Nationally Competitive Student Centered Research University

At the University of Arkansas, students from all backgrounds succeed in a nationally competitive, student-centered research environment. Whether earning top scholarships or leading innovative projects, students are supported to reach their full potential and make a meaningful difference.

Recognized by the Carnegie Foundation for high research activity, the U of A supports students in earning national scholarships. Honors student Coleman Warren, a 2022 Rhodes and 2021 Truman Scholar, plans to address social inequities after studying at Oxford.

Learn more at awards.uark.edu.

For honors biomedical engineering student Breanna Kilgore, studying abroad through the U of A meant expanding her world. With a Gilman Scholarship, she explored global health and policy in Switzerland.

Learn more at studyabroad.uark.edu.

Anna Mathis, an honors student in agricultural education and communications, was named a 2023 Truman Scholar. She plans to pursue graduate studies in agricultural economics and rural development to support rural communities in Arkansas.

HOME OF THE RAZORBACKS®

The Razorbacks have established one of the most successful athletics programs in the country, winning 53 national championships. The university's eight men's and 11 women's varsity sports host more than 200 events annually.

Arkansas has more than made its mark in the most competitive conference in the nation. The Razorbacks have secured a top-20 national finish in the Learfield Directors' Cup Standings in five-consecutive years. Arkansas has won eight NCAA titles and 39 Southeastern Conference team championships in the past seven years, including 31 conference titles in the past five years alone.

In 2024-25, a total of 102 Razorback student-athletes earned their degrees. The program also achieved a 100% Razorback Graduation Rate, which is based on student-athletes who complete their athletics eligibility and earn their degree.

The Arkansas Razorbacks don't just represent the University of Arkansas – they are the pride of the entire state. The Hog Call is one of the most unique and recognizable chants in all of sports. And it's loud – really loud!

STUDY ABROAD

At the University of Arkansas, learning goes beyond the classroom with opportunities to study abroad in locations around the world, including the university's Rome Center, and through programs, such as the Arkansas Global Changemakers.

Students in good academic standing with at least 24 U of A credit hours are eligible to explore study abroad options, though each program may have additional requirements. Most scholarships and financial aid can be used for approved programs, and funding opportunities are available through colleges, departments, and special sources. Learn more at studyabroad.uark.edu.

All majors can study abroad!
